

CDPA website updated

This month's newsletter introduces the new CDPA website, including:

- An archive of research projects and knowledge products developed since 2009;
- A repository of methodological and policy analysis tools; and,
- A record of the 48 newsletters issued approximately monthly since 2013.

Between January and December 2017, we have had almost 8,000 visitors to the CDPA website from 85 countries.

We hope you will find the new website more accessible and easier to navigate. We look forward to continuing to share with you our research on disability policy in Canada at:
