

Pan-Canadian strategy on disability and work

A coalition of researchers and advocates (including a number of CDPA / CDPP members) has released a draft strategy for building inclusive workplaces, entitled, Moving forward together: A Canadian strategy for disability and work. The draft strategy is designed to promote and guide efforts to improve employment opportunities for people with disabilities across Canada. It targets the role played by a variety of stakeholders in creating:

- Disability-confident and inclusive workplaces;
- Comprehensive supports for Canadians with disabilities;
- Effective partnerships between organizations and communities; and,
- Measurement and accountability for outcomes.

Your comments are invited and welcomed. Please click here to review the strategy and find out how to register your comments.