

A new podcast from Statistics Canada on Disability

On November 25th, Statistics Canada launched a new podcast series affectionately called Eh-Sayers, presumably referring to one of Canadians' most endearing sayings! This episode is called Talk about the barriers, not the disability: Activity limitations and COVID-19. It features national data on the realities, challenges and changes that the pandemic has brought to the daily lives of people living with disabilities. It is hosted by Tegan Bridge, with guests: Tony Labillois, Director of Public Sector Statistics and Champion for Persons with Disabilities at Statistics Canada, and Michelle Maroto, Assoc. Professor of Sociology at the University of Alberta.

Link here to their 45 minute conversation.

A vision of Canada where people with disabilities enjoy full participation and citizenship, supported by a coherent framework of legislation, regulation and programs.